Packaging giant Afripack increased its pallet positions by almost 50% in its new, relocated finished goods warehouse in Durban, South Africa by using Bendi forklifts from Goscor.

"We needed tough and reliable forklifts to work in our new VNA (Very Narrow Aisle) warehouse and after some consideration we went for two Bendi B318 articulated forklifts," says Afripack buyer, Kresan Naidoo. "They are not only extraordinarily agile in narrow aisles but they also work just as easily outside as they do inside obviating the need for additional forklifts."

He adds that his company's long-standing relationship with GLTC was also instrumental in the decision. "They give us a world class service and in our business, where minimising downtime is crucial to the bottom line, this is just as essential as good machines."

Designed to give optimal aisle performance, the B318 is capable of storing pallets in 1.8m aisles offering great space savings over counterbalance and reach trucks.
